We wrote the future. Then we brought it here.

*Abbiamo scritto il futuro.
Poi lo abbiamo portato qui.*

SWARM is a future-consumer-technology brand built on autonomous, distributed intelligence — the spiritual successor of the Dormio family. Not a startup of drones; a new category where autonomy becomes simple, desirable, and iconic.

Many units. One intention. The voice mirrors the product — coordinated and quiet. SWARM does not justify itself, does not bounce, does not whoosh. It arrives.

Color appears only when something activates. Type whispers. Negative space is a feature. The ring is the signature. The ellipse is the memory.

SWARM publishes in English and Italian with matching weight. Each Italian claim has the rhythm of its

— THE TEST

Cover the word with your thumb.
Is it still SWARM?

The rule. Cover the wordmark with your thumb. If the orbital ellipses, the mist gradient, and the serif rhythm still carry the brand on their own — ship it. If they don't — quiet it down. Recognition lives in the geometry, not in the letters.

The signature. Every SWARM artefact carries the same three threads: a ring (origin), an ellipse (orbit), and a wide-tracked serif (the wordmark). Together they form a single trace that reads in two seconds, in any size, in any tongue.

— THE SIGNATURE

— VARIANTS

USE

Always at least one per surface. Stroke at 1.25 px platinum, 1 px gunmetal, or 0.2 mm ink at 18–55 % opacity — never filled. Stack two or three for density. Always perspective-aligned (lower in the canvas implies more tilt). Pair with a single ring above it when the wordmark is present.

07 / 30

AVOID

No closed ellipses with fill. No gradient strokes. No more than four stacked — the rhythm collapses past four. Never rotated off the horizontal axis (max $\pm 2^\circ$). Never crossed by another ellipse. Never broken by the wordmark — let the wordmark sit through, not over.

— THE WORLD

Color appears only when something activates.

RULE 01

Black is the canvas.

A SWARM page is more black than content. Never a white default.
Never a gradient on chrome —
only the mist on brand surfaces.

RULE 02

Accents are state.

Blue, green, amber are not decoration. If it isn't a status, it isn't allowed to use them.

RULE 03

Borders, not shadows.

1 px Gunmetal hairlines + 1 px
inset platinum highlight on the top edge. Machined, never soft.

— ACTIVATION

Three colors. Each one a state, never a decoration.

ATTENTION

Launch Amber

#FFB45C

Pre-launch · low warning · a unit asks to be looked at, not feared.

Activation accents — state only.

A blue on a marketing page that doesn't represent a state is wrong. A green is operational. An amber is attention. Nothing decorative. Nothing aesthetic. The accent is a verb, not an adjective.

Eighty-five per cent of every spread is black, platinum, or silver. The rest is permission.

- VISUAL BUDGET

ALLOWED

When color fires.

- The ring lights — a unit comes online.
- A pill announces status — 007 / 128 online.
- A focus ring forms — the orbital blue, by definition.
- A map node pulses once — attention requested.

FORBIDDEN

When color is wrong.

- Headlines in blue. The brand does not paint.
- Gradient backgrounds on UI panels.
- Hover states that swap color. Brightness only.
- Two activation accents in the same component.

— GEOMETRY

Autonomy is no longer aspirational. SWARM coordinates rather than commands.

Body copy lives at 9–11 pt with a 1.5 line height. UI sits between 13 and 15 px depending on density, always 400 or 500 weight, never bold, never italic.

RULES

Stroke-only. 1.5 px, round caps, round joins. Never filled — except a single dot for "signal", "node count", or "unit ID".

Grid. 24×24 square; visual content fills 20 px. The ring lives on the 20 px circle whenever possible.

Color. Platinum at rest. Muted Silver when secondary. State color only when the icon is that state.

Emoji. Never. Unicode allowed only when it carries the geometry: ○ · — ↗.

BILINGUAL CADENCE

Every claim publishes in EN and IT with matching rhythm.

The Italian is not a translation — it is a counterweight.
"Many units. One intention." ⇔ "Molte unità. Una sola intenzione." The em-dash and the period travel together.

— APPLICATION · BRAND SURFACE

Marketing site. Hero in editorial mode.

HERO

Mist gradient ground · serif wordmark · three perspective orbits · bilingual claim · primary CTA on ink.

NAV

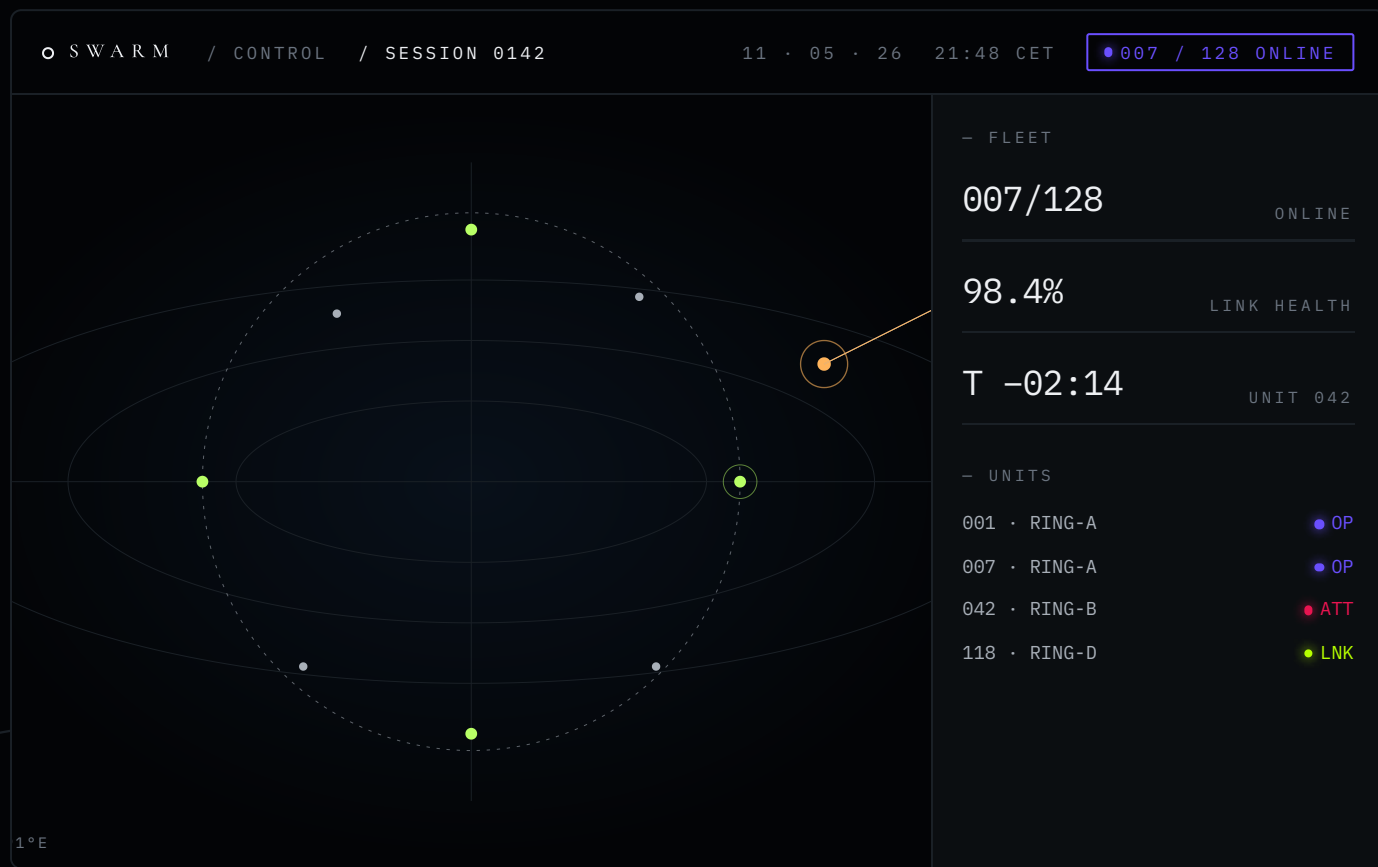

Four entries, EN · IT toggle, ring + serif lock-up. Hover dims; no underline.

BELOW THE FOLD

Manifesto, ring construction, the formula
60 / 40, reserve module — each its own dark or mist surface.

— APPLICATION · PRODUCT SURFACE

Control. Many units, one map.

Control is the operator surface — a single map, a quiet panel, one pill that breathes when something happens. Never a dashboard; a viewport. The ellipses live both as map graticules and as orbit projections — the same primitive the brand wears on the cover.

- APPLICATION · DEVICE

Reserve. A unit is being brought here.

NOTES

The mobile surface is the most personal carrier of the brand. The ring breathes under the wordmark. The display claim is one sentence, ≤ 5 words, in the serif. Everything below is mono — coordinates, ETA, status, sector — because at this point the dream is over and the unit is on its way.

Buttons stay sentence case. The CTA is platinum-on-black, never accent-colored. The status dot is the only place a green or amber may appear here, because the dot is the state.

— APPLICATION • OBJECT

Packaging. A black field with the ring at centre.

SIDE LEGEND

Many units. One intention.

Molte unità. Una sola intenzione.

Black anodized finish. The wordmark on the front face is at 11 pt min. The centre-ring is debossed at 0.4 mm depth, not printed. Side legends are screen-printed in platinum at 7 pt with 0.32 em tracking — the cadence is the same on the box as on the cover.

Never add a sticker. Never add a tagline. The box is the claim.
